STAT

To Mr/Allen Dulles Washington

Dear Mr. Dulles

Recent conversations I had with several americans induce me to send you the following note. You might remember perhaps that I am a french political writer specialized on communism, and that I had the pleasure of meeting you twice during my visit to the States last winter, A study of mine on "The Techniques of Soviet Propaganda" has been recently published by the Americam Senate.

Those conversations dealt with the danger that Catro might, "one of these days", give a military base to the Soviets in Cuba. While all my interlocutors were of course well aware of this development, they all thought to it only as a possible future ocurrence, assuming tacitely that it would materialize in the classica "norma" way of a diplomatic treaty being signed first and the action being undertake after. All these interlocutors of mine seemed highly surprised, and upset, when I mentioned the possibility that said base could have been already convened, would now he prepared in deep sedecy, and disclosed only the very day when a full fledged soviet force would arready be patrolling in it.

Then, of course, nobody could do anything any more to the fact.

I even pointed to a specific location: the deep water port of Cayo Large, which had been denourced by a distinguished Cuban exile, Mr. Amedeo Parietta, former Director of the newspaper "El Mundo", as a forbidden zone where intense works are going on. And everybody has heard about the top secret, never opened, huge containers constantly going under severe guard from soviet ships through cuban hardours to unknown destinations in the Island.

I am pretty sure that the possibility I am stressing here has not escaped you. But my afferican interlocutors thought that it was too serious to let one rely on the assumption that it could have been overlooked, and urged me to make a that a firely certain by alerting the responsible people. I ar therefore doing it

With my bost regards and warmest personal souvenirs

Very truly yours

Yu and Leading
